WILDLIFE CONSERVATION

ALL HUNTERS SHOULD KNOW

Hunting hours, as established by Georgia law, begin at local sunrise and end at sundown. Night hunting is permitted for raccoon, opossum and fox. The dates of the seasons listed in this book begin with sunrise and end at sundown on dates specified.

Each deer killed must be tagged within ten minutes after possession of the animal. The deer must remain tagged at all times until it has been processed for consumption. Deer tags are attached to your hunting license. Tags are furnished by the Game and Fish Commission, and deer tags, when issued, are not transferable and cannot be reused.
