Glen Echo Park

Glen Echo began in 1891 as a National Chautauqua Assembly, a center "To promote liberal and practical education, especially among the masses of the people; to teach the sciences, arts, languages, and literature; to prepare its patrons for their several pursuits and professions in life, and to fit them for the duties which devolve upon them as members of society." By 1900 Glen Echo had become an Amusement Park which served the Washington area until 1968. Since 1971, Glen Echo has again been developing the concept of arts and cultural education for everyone under National Park Service direction and with a high level of public and community involvement. It serves both the surrounding communities and visitors from across the country. Its four sessions of classes are taught year-round by well-known artists and professionals, some of whom are members of the residency programs in the park. There are concerts, demonstrations, workshops and festivals on Sundays during the warm months as a part of the Chautauqua Summer Season, one of the largest cultural programs in the Washington, D.C. area. In addition, the antique hand-carved and hand-painted Dentzel carousel, saved by community effort, operates on summer weekends, and the Gallery offers changing monthly exhibitions of Glen Echo's artists.

The National Park Service and the staff at Glen Echo Park would like to thank all of you for your cooperation during the flood emergency. Because of the support from the U.S. Park Police, the NPS Maintenance staff, the dancers, and the local community, interruption to programs and activities was minimal. We are sorry for any inconvenience, but hope that you will continue to attend the ongoing dances, classes, performances, festivals, and special events. At the time of printing, there is temporary parking in the upper grassy lot on MacArthur Boulevard and in the grassy lot on Tulane Avenue. As a final design for the lot is developed, we will keep our visitors informed as to the status of parking during construction. We encourage you to use public transportation or to carpool. Thank you again.

Glen Echo Park Foundation

320-2330

Our dreams for Glen Echo Park are coming true. The Glen Echo Park Foundation has obtained at $300,000 Maryland State Bond (which requires a matching amount for release of funds). This money will be used for renovating the Spanish Ballroom. The Park is still a place for learning, for creating, for chasing dreams, but now it also will be a place for repairing, for fixing up, for making better for the future.

When you come to the Park this summer, whether for Children's Chautauqua on June 24, for a weekend festival, for a dance, or for a class, remember that the Glen Echo Park Foundation is working hard so the Park will be a place to make memories for at least another hundred years.

Become a member of the Glen Echo Park Foundation—your dues will maintain the Foundation while it raises the funds necessary to release those matching funds to pay for needed repairs. Get ready to support the Foundation's Capital Campaign, which will have a week-long kickoff in June.

Be a part of Glen Echo Park's future.

The Foundation is a nonprofit, tax exempt corporation pledged to raise funds for use in restoring the historic buildings of Glen Echo Park and in continuing the Park's recreational, cultural and educational programs.

Memberships and contributions are tax deductible to the fullest extent allowed by law.

The Puppet Co. Playhouse, our new performance facility, is located on the east side of the historic Spanish Ballroom, adjacent to the wooded picnic area. The Playhouse will operate year-round bringing audiences a different show each month. It is the only East Coast theater between New York and Atlanta dedicated entirely to puppetry.

Hand puppets, rod puppets, marionettes, and shadows are used in the fully-staged productions of the stories, traditional and original, which comprise the ever-growing Puppet Co. repertory.

Our seventh summer season in the Park brings with it a brand new circus variety show, along with other special selections from our repertoire.

Performances are on Wednesdays and Thursdays at 10:00 and 11:30 a.m. and most Saturdays and Sundays at 11:00 a.m. and 1:00 and 2:30 p.m. The Summer Season runs May through September.

Saturdays, May 20, June 3*, 10, 17, 24
Sundays, May 21 & 28*,
June 4*, 11, 18, 25

An elegant production of the classic children's favorite. Set in 17th-century France, the story combines beautifully elaborate costumes of the Comedie Francaise and Offenbach's "Gaiety Parisian" to adorn the tale of the cinder girl who captures the heart of the handsome prince. Running time: 45 minutes. Recommended: Preschool to Grade 6.

Saturdays, July 1, 8, 15, 22, 29
Sundays, July 2, 9, 16, 23, 30

The story of Pinocchio is a perennial favorite of families, and what better way to tell the story than with the artful creations of puppetmaster Allan Stevens. The half life-size rod puppets (celebrating the fifteenth anniversary of their premier at the Smithsonian Institution) perform in the Italian Commedia del Arte style and the Renaissance music of Praetorius augments Carlo Collodi's lesson in what it means to be "real." Running time: 50 minutes. Recommended: K to grade 8.

Circus!

Wednesdays, August 2, 9, 16, 23, 30
Thursdays, August 3, 10, 17, 24, 31
Saturdays, August 5, 12, 19, 26
Sundays, August 6, 13, 20, 27

In the grand circus tradition, "The Greatest Little Show on Strings" features a panoply of pandamoniac elowns, death-defying acrobats, and an amazing menagerie of circus animals. The performance includes acts from the "International Marionette Circus" as well as new acts premiering this summer. Running time: 45 minutes. Recommended for children of all ages!

In September watch for Rapunzel, and a whole new Winter Season beginning in October with our original fairy tale The Magic Mirror.

Tickets are $4.00 for adults and children. Since seating is limited in the new Playhouse, reservations are recommended. Groups with advance reservations qualify for the following rates: $3.00 for groups of 20 or more; $2.50 for groups of 50 or more. For reservations, call (301) 320-6668, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, 10:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

The Puppet Co.'s outreach program brings performances to schools, civic organizations, and private parties when warranted by audience size, transportation, or other considerations. For further information call (202) 234-6666.

To heighten enjoyment of our performances and to further the understanding of the limitless possibilities of puppetry, The Puppet Co. offers demonstrations and classes intended for a wide range of ages and interests.

Each Sunday afternoon at 3:45 p.m., The Puppet Co. will present a brief demonstration of some phase of puppet construction or manipulation. These free public demonstrations will be held in the wooded picnic area in front of the Puppet Co. Playhouse, in fair weather only. There will be no demonstrations on May 28 and June 4.

Yurt Village Artists

A "yurt" is a traditional Mongolian family hut. However, here at Glen Echo Park and particularly during weekends, our yurts serve as studio spaces for several resident artists working in a variety of visual arts. While in the park, we invite you to visit these artists, feel welcome to ask questions, and learn from their activities and experiences. The yurt village is located between the Stone Tower and the Carousel.

Katherine T. Andrie, known for her work linking art and nature through the use of shrine-like box constructions and large totemic sculptural images. She collages found materials and elements of personal memorabilia. Andrie's summer offerings include the Young Creative Spirit series of classes for children and the Carousel Art Workshop. Her work will be on view in her yurt throughout the summer.

Adrienne Beck will be working and demonstrating her silkscreen printing process in her yurt. She will also be teaching courses in silkscreen processes as part of the Creative Education Program.

Nizette Brennan, stone carver and sculptor, is practicing her art at the Candy Corner in Glen Echo Park through the end of October, 1989. She is carving sculptures in limestone primarily using air hammers and chisels, and finishing the works by filing and sanding. Her Saturday afternoon classes approach stone carving using the direct method, creating form in response to an idea and the stone itself. By carving directly, the sculptor attains three-dimensional form through a subtractive process.

Jane Schweinsberg will be demonstrating transparent watercolor techniques during the summer. Demonstrations will include basic fundamentals, achieving special effects, and the "how to's" of painting particular subjects. The artist will be available on Saturdays and Sundays in her yurt. She will be giving short lectures on her work, and paintings by her and her students will be on display.

A Glen Echo History

From Past to Present For almost 100 years, the land on which the present Glen Echo Park sits has been dedicated to people. First, in 1891, as a National Chautauqua Assembly, a center where people could participate in the sciences, arts, languages, and literature. Then, until 1968, as a famous amusement park. Now, coming full circle, as a park emphasizing arts and cultural education for the community.

In this latest incarnation, the land and the historical remnants of former buildings host a variety of activities for both the community and visitors. You can simply wander on the Midway and remember the sights and sounds of an old amusement park where you came as a child or adult to play miniature golf, see yourself distorted in the Hall of Mirrors, dance to the music of Glen Miller, sun on the sand beach of the Crystal Pool, or whack your bumper car into someone else’s while sparks flew from the electrified ceiling.

Every Wednesday and weekends during the summer you can still ride and listen to the tunes from the antique, hand-carved Dentzel Carousel, preserved through community effort. You can visit an art exhibit in the stone Chautauqua Tower, the only usable structure from the earliest incarnation. And on summer Sundays you can listen to a concert, watch a craft demonstration, attend a workshop or festival, or tour the Clara Barton National Historic Site—all this and more as part of the “Chautauqua Summer Season.”

All through the year you can picnic, walk, visit the workshops of artists now housed in the park, or take workshops in art forms that range from ceramics, through dance and music, to painting and drama. Glen Echo Park travels forward to where it began.

First: The Chautauqua Assembly It began when Edwin and Edward Baltzley conceived of promoting the sale of land and houses by establishing a Glen Echo Chautauqua “to promote liberal and practical education, especially among the masses of the people—and to fit them for the duties which devolve upon them as members of society.” The Chautauqua Movement was already popular and, financing their efforts with the profits from Edwin’s inventions, the Baltzleys opened theirs in June, 1891. It was a success until Henry Spencer, operating the Spencerian Business School at the site, died of pneumonia. Rumors spread that he had died of malaria, and the rumors were enough to make people stop coming to this “Rhineland of the Potomac.” That brief season was the only Chautauqua Assembly on the site.

In the years that followed, from 1893 to 1898, the Baltzleys rented Glen Echo to different fundraising organizations which continued using the land for public shows and entertainment.

Then: An Amusement Park In 1899 the Baltzleys rented Glen Echo to the Glen Echo Company, who put a full-fledged amusement park on the land. For the next sixty years the amusement park was always ahead of the times—and one of the most popular spots in Washington. The rides and the ballroom attracted thousands—the pool alone held 3000 people. But tastes changed and by the mid-sixties Glen Echo’s heydays were over. Attendance dropped markedly and at the end of the 1968 season the owners announced the park would close. But the land was still there, occupied by remnants of the buildings which traced in their facades a history of architectural tastes.

Now: A Cultural Arts Park Community action on the part of a group of public-spirited citizens helped to assure the future of Glen Echo Park. In 1971, through a land exchange with its owners, Glen Echo Park was acquired by the Federal government. Between the time the amusement park closed and the beginning of National Park Service management, many of the rides were sold including the historic Dentzel Carousel, brought to the park in 1921. A group of interested individuals organized a fundraising campaign to repurchase the Carousel, thus enabling it to be kept at the park for public enjoyment. Bringing the park into public ownership saved the land from possible development which could have adversely affected the natural beauty of the Potomac Palisades and the bordering C & O Canal National Historic Park and George Washington Memorial Parkway.

Through consultation with educators, artists, community leaders, and special interest groups, an initial theme evolved—to use the land as a resource center, an educational and cultural forum where artists, students, teachers, and visitors could meet and exchange ideas, as well as learn from each other. It was not a new idea but a recycled one from the days when the park functioned as the Chautauqua Assembly. Once again, Glen Echo would be a learning center.

Professionals in fields ranging from performing and visual arts to consumer-oriented topics were invited to move into the remaining buildings of the amusement park, repair and refurbish these structures and bring them back to life. In exchange, the groups agreed to open their facilities to the public with classes, as well as provide an assortment of free demonstrations and performances. Other artists came to teach in the multi-purpose classrooms, thus widening the scope of activities. With the addition of the summer Chautauqua Season and its several large festivals, weekend dances, and lectures for the public the park has continued to flourish.

Future: A Cooperative Effort Drawing on its history and the enthusiastic interest shown in its cultural revitalization, the land and the structures of the park will be developed through cooperation of government and private sectors to advance opportunities for the public to enjoy its many resources.
